

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to novel insulin activity (IA) proteins and nucleic acids. The invention further relates to the use of the IA proteins in the treatment of insulin related disorders such as type1 diabetes and type 2 diabetes.